CIVIL ENGINEER

PROFILE

I am a graduate of Civil Engineering at University of Engineering and Technology in Lahore, Pakistan with a solid academic background with respect to knowledge of construction materials and structural analysis. My research work in my last year was based on concrete performance and its application and this improved my knowledge on material behavior and durability. I really enjoy combining my technical ability with work on real life projects, giving back to sustainable infrastructure projects, and continuing to develop my work as a professional civil engineer
